It seems like only yesterday that we heard the 2009 holiday bells ringing, but somehow, 'tis the season yet again. While we can't pay your Visa bill, we can help you make some smart and creative decisions about this year's gifts. We spent the last couple of months checking out scores of the hottest-and coolest-gifts that not only suit your active lifestyle but also those of your eclectic family and friends. Whatever your budget, we've got just the thing for you. Not a "present person"? Check out our "what we need" category, which puts a festive spin on the bare essentials. And while we all acknowledge that it's better to give than receive, there's no way you're going to peruse this guide and not find yourself dog-earing the pages of things you want. In the interest of fair play, we've created a Wishlist Checklist for you to give to your own Secret Santa. (You can also use the Checklist to find all product website information.)
